Why should I choose BMG with Casual eSports?

Studies have shown that playable ads get 3x click through rates when compared to a normal static ad. Not only do we get great results through gamification, but our user retention is high due to the incentivization program we have across our games, rewarding users for playing and interacting with the ads. Which is a win win situation for everyone.

*<sup>1</sup> Cross channel marketing is the term given to our promotional support we provide even after the promotional campaign has ended. i.e During the course of your campaign, part of the promotion strategy will incorporate email marketing, in which users will receive an email bulletin from us, notifying them of your current campaign running. This bulletin will feature your campaign as the primary focus of the email, though it shall also be supported by secondary campaigns of other parties in smaller ad slots (MPUs) below it. In turn, once your campaign is over, respectively, we will continue to push your campaign through these smaller ad slots on the bulletins of campaigns that are currently running for other parties.

*<sup>2</sup> PPC = Pay Per Click marketing across most major platforms, including Facebook, Twitter, Google etc.

*<sup>3</sup> A proportion of the total amount (30% in the example) will be used to purchase promotional gifts - as an example these can include, though are not limited to, M&S | Amazon vouchers, gift cards, merchandise, products, among other rewards, used to incentivise the user to interact with the posting even further.
